

COTTON TAILS TO BE KILLED

Assembly Believes That Almost Any Method
Is Legal To Rid Farms Of The Pest.

ARE THE CORONERS ALL GRAFTERS?

Two Commissions Proposed For Various Causes Are Turned Down--Assembly Really Does
Some Work.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., April 27.—Farmers may exterminate rabbits, using for traps or other methods, declares the assembly today. After debating the question of hunter, farmer, horticulturist and humanitarian, the assembly refused to advance the anti-ferret bill until an amendment was adopted allowing property-owners to rid themselves of the cotton-tails.
Charges that coroners are grafters and hold inquests without reason other than to get fees, were made in the assembly today and the idea prevailed that the district attorney's permission ought to be necessary to holding of an inquest. The coroners' bill was re-referred to the judiciary committee.

The social democratic proposal to have a legislative investigation of the liquor problem was killed.
Long debate and finally temporary postponement was had on the bill to have a commission to codify the municipal legislative power.
The Bancroft bill to abolish $5,000 limit of damages for death-in railroad accidents was advanced.

HALFBREED BOY IS A TRUE SUFFERER

Is Uncomplaining as to Wound Until
He Faints From Pain and Then Dies.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Oshkosh, Wis., April 27.—Rupert J. Dostator, the halfbreed Indian boy, 17 years old, who was accidentally shot yesterday, died in the hospital here. He was playing with another boy 13 years old when shot. After the accident occurred the Indian walked to a neighbor's home several miles and got a horse and buggy with which he drove a long distance to a physician, but finding the physician was not in, the wounded boy returned the horse and buggy and then walked to his home, arriving in time for supper. None of the family knew he was injured until later in the evening when he fainted. His parents rushed him to a physician and they sent him to Oshkosh where he died. The physician said he must have suffered intense pain.

THIRTEENTH RELAY CARNIVAL ON TODAY

Pennsylvania's Big Intercollegiate Meet Being Held at Philadelphia.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Philadelphia, Pa., April 27.—For the thirteenth time the selected athletes of colleges and schools throughout a large section of the United States lined up on Franklin Field this afternoon to strive for honors in the annual relay carnival under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania. Year by year the number of contestants has increased until this year the list reached the record-breaking total of 1,400. They represented practically every important school east of the Mississippi river, with a scattering of men from beyond that point and Canada.

Besides the 'Big Six' of the eastern universities there are a large number of smaller colleges represented, among them Brown, Syracuse, Amherst, Williams, Wesleyan, Dartmouth and the University of Maine. The University of Michigan again heads the western delegation, which is larger this year than ever before. The southern representatives include teams from Georgetown, University of Virginia and other strong institutions. The program provides for three races to determine the college championship of America. One is for a distance of a mile, each man to run a quarter mile. The second is to be four miles, each man to run a mile. The third is to be a two-mile race, each man to run a half mile.

GEN. DAN RUCKER'S 95TH ANNIVERSARY

Sherman and Father-in-Law
of "Phil" Sheridan.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., April 27.—General Daniel H. Rucker, father-in-law of "Phil" Sheridan and boyhood chum of Sherman, will be ninety-five years old tomorrow. Gen. Rucker has made Washington his home for many years. He was born in Belleville, N. J., and an early age enlisted in the army and served on the frontier, being a great friend of "Kit" Carson. He served throughout the Mexican war, as well as the Civil war.

AMERICA'S OLDEST ARCHBISHOP IS 85

Most Rev. John J. Williams of Boston
Has Served Roman Catholic Church
for Sixty Years.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Boston, Mass., April 27.—Archbishop Williams, who has the distinction of being dean of the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic church in the United States, both in years of life and years of service, celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday today. The venerable archbishop has spent more than 60 years of his life in the church. He was a bishop for 10 years prior to his being made an archbishop 32 years ago.

The Most Rev. John J. Williams is a native of Boston and all his life he has labored for the advancement of the Catholic church in New England. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1845. On his return home he was assigned to the old cathedral in this city as assistant, and afterward as rector. In 1859 he became vicar-general of the diocese, and on January 9, 1866, was appointed coadjutor with the right of succession to Bishop Fitzpatrick, whom he succeeded a few months later. In 1875 Boston was raised to an archbishopric, and on May 3 the pallium was conferred upon Archbishop Williams. In all the long course of his episcopate he has been a priest, bishop and archbishop in Boston, the same zeal and devotion to duty have characterized Archbishop Williams, and it has been said for many years that he is one of the best governed dioceses in the country, and that with the church authorities in Rome, no bishop in the United States has so high a standing.

DEAN OF BRITISH PARLIAMENT IS 97

Lord Gwydyr, Oldest in House of Lords and Patriarch of Peerage, Celebrating Birthday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, April 27.—Lord Gwydyr, the patriarch of the British peerage and the oldest member of the House of Lords, was ninety-seven years old today. He enjoys remarkably good health for a man of his years, and confidently expects to round out a century. Lord Gwydyr comes of a very ancient family, though it was only in 1786 that they were raised to the peerage. For forty years Lord Gwydyr was secretary to the Hereditary Great Chamberlain. Lord Gwydyr attributes his longevity to the fact that, among other good things, he has inherited a superb constitution and has always taken good care of it, eating and drinking in moderation and taking plenty of outdoor exercise. He has never used tobacco in any form. Lord Gwydyr has lived in five reigns and has witnessed four coronations. Vividly he still recalls the first of them, that of George IV, which he attended as a boy of 10, accompanying his grandfather in the latter's state barge which was rowed by six men in handsome livery from Whitehall stairs to Westminster.

TAFT TO ADDRESS GRADUATES OF YALE

As President of Alumni Association
He Will Preside at Big Banquet
in Cincinnati.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Cincinnati, O., April 27.—One thousand graduates of Yale university, members of the Western Association of Yale Clubs, gathered in Cincinnati today to renew acquaintance and to sing the praises of their alma mater. Business sessions of the association were held both morning and afternoon at the Sinton hotel. Tonight the meeting closes with the annual banquet, which promises to be a notable event. Secretary of War Taft, as president of the association, will act as toastmaster. President Hadley of Yale, Frederick X. Judson of St. Louis and other speakers will be heard. Among the visitors are representatives of the Yale clubs in Chicago, Cleveland, Indianapolis, Louisville, St. Louis, Kansas City, Detroit, Denver, Columbus, Milwaukee, Minneapolis and St. Paul, and John M. Whitehead of Janesville.
Secretary Taft, who is to make several public addresses in this vicinity and one in Dayton within the next three days, arrived this morning. He declined to discuss the political questions in any way and declared he will not have, during his western trip, anything whatever to say bearing on the presidential question.

OVER FIVE HUNDRED FROM AMERICA SAIL FOR ROME

Two Special Steamers Carry Prominent Sunday School Workers To International Convention.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Boston, Mass., April 27.—A contingent of America's foremost Sunday school educators 325 strong left this port today on the specially chartered steamship Romanic en route to Rome. The party will attend the fifth world's Sunday school convention, which is to assemble in the Italian capital on May 18. Because of the large number of Americans who are to attend the gathering it has been found necessary to charter two vessels especially for the use of the Sunday school pilgrims. In addition about 200 delegates will depart on the steamship Neckar leaving New York today. At Rome the two companies will meet, remaining together during the convention and tours about Rome. The convention in Rome is expected to be the largest gathering of its kind ever held. In addition to the leaders in Sunday school work of two continents there will be present men and women fresh from missionary fields in nearly every country of the missionary world, for the convention will, in large measure, be a missionary Sunday school convention. Arrangements have been made to hold services in a number of the Roman churches and a monster demonstration will be held in the ruins of the Coliseum, the largest amphitheatre in the world, and seating between 40,000 and 50,000.

Prominent among the participants in the convention will be the Rev. Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, the Rev. Frank Johnson and other English and Continental leaders; Bishop Hartzell of Africa, Bishop Burt of Switzerland, Rev. Dr. John Potts of Canada, Marion Lawrence of Toledo, Ohio, and a host of others from America. Four languages will be used in the conferences to which the mornings of the convention will be devoted—French, German, Italian and English.

LONG LIFE REMAINS FOR MAD KING OTTO

Bavarian Ruler Still Enjoys Good
Physical Health and Remains Mentally Unsound.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Munich, April 27.—With little visible change apparent either in his mental or physical condition since he ascended the throne of Bavaria twenty-two years ago, the mad King Otto today entered upon the sixtieth year of his life. For many years he has never seen outside the grounds of Fuerstentour castle. He has been hopelessly insane since the summer of 1884, his kingdom being ruled by a regent, yet the royal title is still vested in the useless piece of clay surrounded by a host of lackeys and their master with all outward signs of homage and respect, while they and all the world know of his utter decay—for he is the king.

Reports from time to time have had it that the King has become worse. Thence in a position to know, however, state that this is not true and that there has been little change in his condition since he ascended the throne. He was hopelessly insane then as he is now. His lucid intervals always have been few and of short duration. He is totally ignorant of his terrible affliction and converses on subjects referring to his immediate surroundings, logically and with volubility of speech. When at his throne his attendants have the greatest difficulty to prevent him filling his mouth with whatever he can lay hands on, and when out walking in the park he has been discovered devouring his grass or leaves, and even filling his mouth with earth. Occasionally he will invite the gentlemen of his court to dinner, and while they are discussing the meal, will himself stand with the servants and stealthily nibble at the dainties within his reach.

His medical attendant and the physicians who visit him from time to time are firm in the opinion that the King may still live many years, his digestive faculties being unimpaired. When of a frolicsome disposition he thoroughly enjoys playing at being soldiers, but he has become too old and awkward to take a keen relish in climbing trees, once his favorite pastime. In his religious devotions he has been known to exhibit great piety, and the celebration of the mass has invariably a soothing influence on his distracted mind.

TWELVE FOREIGNERS BURIED IN A MINE

A Somerset Coal Mine Was the Scene of a Tragedy This Morning.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Johnstown, Pa., April 27.—Twelve men, all foreigners, are reported imprisoned in the Foustwell mine of the Berwind-White Coal Mining company in Somerset county. Their fate will not be known until a vast quantity of water has been pumped out and this may require a couple of days. Meantime there is the wildest excitement among the relatives and friends of the imprisoned men.

At 2:45 Superintendent Meighan, who is at the head of a rescuing party, succeeded in getting a signal over the pump line and it is now known that some of the men are still alive. It is said all but seven men are accounted for and this number are believed to be in the mine.

PIER COLLAPSES AT LOCUST POINT TODAY

Pleasure Resort Near Baltimore the Scene of an Accident This Morning.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Baltimore, Md., April 27.—A new pier under construction at Locust point, south of Baltimore, collapsed today, carrying down about a score of workmen.
This afternoon a revised list of the missing was issued, placing the number unaccounted for at sixteen, most of them laborers. Only three bodies have been recovered.
Six bodies have been recovered and two men are missing. Fifteen were injured. This is believed to cover the extent of the casualties. The pier was being built for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at a cost of $400,000.

GIRL OF THIRTEEN CAN BE A TEACHER

TAFT IS QUIET
AS TO OUTCOME

RETURNS FROM HIS TRIP TO AS-SUME POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE.

ROOSEVELT STILL SILENT

General Political Gossip of Washington—Chatty Little Incidents of National Life.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, April 27.—Sec. Taft is back from his trip to the Isthmus
and the West Indies, and the five under the political pot now is crackling merrily. The secretary of war, however, has not yet said anything to feed the flames, although his presence has had that effect. Immediately after his return he issued a statement in which he avoided all reference to politics. Later, in a brief personal interview, he declared he was too busy to consider the political situation in any way whatever in the few addresses he is to make
at Cincinnati and Dayton, and a final address to the Business
Men's club at Cincinnati next Monday.

The sensation of the week is the open letter issued by President Roosevelt in reply to the demands of labor
for an explanation of his characterization of Haywood and Moyer, officers of the Western Federation of Miners who are on trial in connection with the assassination of former Governor Steunenberg of Idaho, as undesirable citizens. The President was driven into a corner on this question and found himself in a position where he either had to repudiate his statements or stand by his guns. He chose the latter course. In the face of a storm of criticism and protest from labor
throughout the country, he expressed
"proud indifference" to it, adding
"no possible outcome of the trial
can affect my judgment as to undesirability of the type of citizenship of those which I mentioned." As the labor vote in Ohio is the greatest individual vote in that state, there is no doubt of the effect of this presidential pronouncement on the fortunes of Secretary Taft in his battle with Senator Foraker for re-election. Friends of the administration fear that the political capital that will be made out of this direct attack on the courts,
declaring that enemies of the administration will again accuse Mr. Roosevelt of practical anarchy, as it is not the first time he has attacked the courts when they have failed to agree with him.

Increasing pressure is being brought to bear to induce President Roosevelt to make a trip of inspection
on the Mississippi river, from the most northerly point of navigation to the gulf. The President has withstood the pressure thus far, declining
on the ground that so urgent is public business and the date set for the beginning of his official vacation so near, he can find no time. The importance of the trip is being espoused
by the governors of a number of the middle western and southern states,
among them being Governor Davidson of Wisconsin, Governor Cummins of Iowa, Governor Blanchard of Louisiana, Governor Brown of Florida, Governor Vandam of Mississippi, and Governor Patterson of Tennessee. The voyage is intended to prove to the President the necessity
that exists for the creation of a ship
channel connecting the great lakes with the Gulf of Mexico. An item of several thousand dollars was carried in the last rivers and harbors appropriation bill, providing for a complete survey of the work and a report on its feasibility and cost. The deep waterway boomers contend that there is no question as to the feasibility
and importance of the ship channel,
and declare that an appropriation sufficient to permit of the immediate undertaking of the work should be forthcoming at the next session. A number of the governors who have signed the petition to the President are deeply interested in the general
question of waterway improvement
present at the convention of the National Rivers and Harbors
congress, held in this city last December. [At that time the Lakes-to-
the-Gulf Deep Waterway association

"I am glad to say that I am so much

held a number of meetings and worked earnestly with members of congress and officials of the administration for the advancement of their pet project. While giving the organization its powerful moral support, the National Rivers and Harbors congress
made no attempt to take an active part in the campaign, for the reason that it is pledged to the advancement of a general scheme of waterways
betterments, and recognizes no sectional or individual projects. In an effort to keep before congress the necessity for making another large appropriation for the work at the next session, this organization is desirous of increasing its membership, which now extends to every state and territory in the union. Captain J. F. Ellison of Cincinnati, its secretary and treasurer, has issued the objects and aspirations of the organization and calling attention to the extremely low fees for membership.

Representative Hall of Iowa, chairman of the House Committee on Military Affairs, arrived in Washington
this week after a tour through his state. He called at the white house,
and later declared that from observations made on his trip the presidential candidates in popularity in his state stood: Roosevelt, Taft, Fairbanks, in the order named. Mr. Hall said that probably 75 per cent of the republicans of Iowa are for the president for a third term, and that a great majority of them believe that he will be compelled to accept another nomination. The Taft sentiment seems to be based entirely on the theory that Mr. Roosevelt believes the secretary of war to be a good man
to carry out his policies. Fairbanks, says Mr. Hall, also is well liked and he has considerable strength in Iowa.

There is an emergency call out for
"Prize-Bull Pup" Foraker. P. B. Foraker
is the special pet of the senior senator from Ohio and he reappeared from a stable in the rear of 1720 Seventeenth street, N. W. This city, some days ago. A general alarm was sent out at the time, and since then the police department has been nosing around in alleys and in highways and byways in the search.
Senator Foraker is declared to be very much distressed over the loss of his pet, which is described as a light brindle and is valued at $150. There are dark hints that the President may have kidnapped the animal, and had not Secretary Taft been absent on his junket when the pup disappeared
suspicion might have fallen upon
also. Vice-President Fairbanks, Senator Knox, and the other more or less prominent receptive presidential candidates, are not believed to have had a hand in the kidnapping.

Secretary Root, in a letter this week to Dr. Richard D. Harlan, gave an added impetus to the movement
undertaken by George Washington university to establish itself as the representative seat of learning of the western hemisphere. The letter in part reads:

"There are many respects in which Washington furnishes a field for higher education absolutely unequalled by any other place in the United States.
This is especially true of political science, jurisprudence, diplomacy and international law. The operations of a great government here, with which
a student can readily keep familiar,
afford opportunities for a real understanding in these branches almost equal to those that a hospital furnishes to a medical student, or that travel brings to the aid of the study of geography. I am, accordingly, much interested in the success of the George Washington university, and for that reason, as well as for a general
interest in the cause of education,
which I am sure the university
will promote, you have my very best wishes."

Local subscriptions to the fund with which it is intended to purchase a suitable site have reached upwards of $128,000, and a decision in the matter of a site will soon be arrived at. Once this is determined upon, the individual states of the union will be urged to contribute to an endowment fund with which to establish the university on a sound financial basis.
These subscriptions will not be asked
from the states officially, but from the alumni and friends of the university in the different sections.

HICKS DOES NOT DO
A PROMISING STUNT

Long Range Weather Prophet Has Made His Forecast for the Month
of May Very General.

In Hicks, the long range weather
forecaster, does not make any flattering promises for May weather, for Janesville or its immediate vicinity.
In fact, Mr. Hicks predicts, all sorts of strange things to happen in this month of flowers. He begins by saying a regular storm period, having its center on April 30, comes over into the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd of May. Low barometer, and general storm conditions will be advancing from west to east by the end of April, and these conditions will culminate in rain,
wind and thunder storms from the 1st
to the 3rd. In extreme northern sections, unseasonable cold, with possible sleet and snow, will attend these storms, sending a cool wave progressively down over most parts of the country from about the 3rd to the 6th.
Decided storm conditions will cross
the country on and touching the 6th, 7th and 8th, with strong probabilities
of a continuation of same over into
the following storm period.

A regular storm period runs from the 10th to the 15th, central on the 12th. We will name Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, the 12th, 13th and 14th,
as central dates of severe storm probabilities. Warm, humid atmosphere, with low barometer and southerly winds, should cause apprehension and watchfulness in the face of gathering storm clouds at this time.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 18th, 19th and 20th. On and touching these dates look for rapid and great change to falling barometer and warmer. A probable cycle of daily rain, wind and thunder storms will set in about this time, repeating themselves for many consecutive days. A regular storm period is central on the 23rd, covering the 22nd to the 26th. No careful student of these forecasts will ignore
the fact that the 23rd, 24th, 25th and

days next to them, are dates of probable danger, calling for quiet and sensible scrutiny of all indications and all gathering storm clouds. Many destructive hail storms are almost certain to attend the storms about the 22nd to 25th, with sudden revulsion
from extreme warmth to unseasonable cold following. A reactionary storm
period is central on the 28th, 29th
and 30th. If storms and storm conditions do not continue from the preceding period, look for such to return
on and touching the 28th and 29th.

HOW THE HIDEOUS
MAY BE BANISHED

Or Hidden by Inexpensive Landscape
Gardening, Was Told by E. S.
Thompson in Splendid Lecture.

"Little beds of flowers,
"Little coats of paint,
"Make a pleasant cottage,
"Out of one that aint."
A window box of pine covered with strips of bark, from the woods; a strip
of wire netting on which some climbing plant may train; an arbor covered with a common pumpkin vine; ugly fences and cottage walls hidden by honeysuckle and morning glories,
bleak areas transformed by festoons
of Boston ivy; desolate spots reclaimed by masses of shrubbery and flowers; the prompt co-operation to be expected of castor-bean, spirea, cannal,
and golden glow—these were some of the suggestions offered by E. S.
Thompson of Dayton, Ohio, in his splendid stereoscopic lecture on "The City Beautiful," delivered under Twight Club auspices before a good sized audience assembled at the Congregational church last evening. And the purpose and effect of all these little enterprises, he argued, were not merely the attainment of the Beautiful for its own sake, but the spiritual, moral, and physical betterment of those engaged in them. A child who has known the magic of a ten cent package of flower seeds, who has come in touch with nature in the transformation of a forbidding prospect, a barren rock and corner in the backyard, into a garden of flowers,
of mischief but has had industry,
patience, observance, artistic appreciation, and every possibility for good
that lies within his being stimulated.

Concrete illustrations of what might be accomplished by a general movement in this direction were offered in the story and pictures of results attained by the National Cash Register Co. in fostering this work of improvement among the employees of its factory at Dayton, Ohio. The factory buildings and their unattractive
surroundings before the work was undertaken in 1894 and the gradual transformation which landscape gardening had wrought, redeeming an entire area which had once been shunned by all save those compelled to live within its borders, were all graphically set forth by the finely colored slides.

The speaker told about the establishment of vegetable gardens in which the boys and girls of the factory, on the efforts to better
the conditions of the workers within the factory, the high-back stools and foot rests for girls, the free baths, the compulsory exercise, the appetizing
meals provided at cost, the policy of better organization, better pay, and sympathy for the employees which had yielded direct returns in higher efficiency, just as the landscape gardening had materially raised the value of real estate in the locality. The lecture offered many helpful and useful suggestions and was thoroughly appreciated by those who heard it.

The Scramble Beautiful.

Milwaukee Journal: Even in the days of the old ring we never saw a protector scrap or one with more energy than the present senatorial contest at Madison. Reform is not a shy maiden.

CONFER DECORATION ON THREE REBEKAHS

Canton Janesville Conducted Elaborate Ceremonies at East Side Odd Fellows' Hall.

With the elaborate ceremonies presented by the ritual of the order
Canton Janesville, No. 9, at the Militant, I. O. O. F., last evening conferred the decoration of chivalry on three members of the Daughters of Rebekahs, who by their efforts to advance the Odd Fellows, and their auxiliary have been deemed worthy of the honor. The conferment occurred at East Side Odd Fellows' hall
and under the auspices of America Lodge, Rebekahs. The women honored were Mrs. Sophie Hewett of Beloit and Mrs. Susan Angell and Mrs.
Polley of Janesville. The officers of the Canton who participated were Department Commander James A.
Fathers, Captain Fred Koebelin, First
Lieutenant L. V. Paul, Esquire G. H.
Taylor. These were assisted by the chevaliers in full dress uniform and four young ladies from the Rebekahs
—First Lady, Miss Grace Wright;
Second Lady, Miss Helen Meissner;
Third Lady, Alta Paul; Fourth Lady
—Miss Grace Slightman. The badges of honor were pinned upon the candidates by three little misses—Lillian Smith, Mabel Lowry and Roberta Van Gilder. The ceremony was followed by a dance for which Crandall's orchestra furnished the music.

OPERA COMPANY WILL SHORTLY REORGANIZE

Standard Opera Company to Start Out
On The Road Again Under
New Management.

From dispatches received this morning it is apparent that the Standard
Opera company which appeared here
for two nights last October and which closed an unfortunate season
in Milwaukee a few weeks ago, is again to take the road, but under a new management. Miss Margaret Brown who managed the company,
and Mr. Cecil de Mille, appear to have lost out entirely and the new company will be backed by Milwaukee capitalists. It will be remembered that this is the company that Manager Myers of the Myers Theatre,
hoped to firmly establish in this city,
making Janesville the headquarters.
Part of their scenery is now stored in the local play house, having been sent here from Milwaukee. Miss Brown, who was manager and financial backer, is said to have lost heavily in the transactions of last season. The new company will report in Oak Park, Ill.,
for rehearsals on August 15th.

FRANCIS MURPHY IS TO RETIRE SHORTLY

Noted Temperance Lecturer is to Spend Remaining Years of His Life in Writing Memoirs.

Janesville people will regret to learn that dispatches received in New York from Los Angeles state that Francis Murphy, the noted temperance lecturer and worker, is about to retire from active work and devote
the remainder of his life to writing
the memoirs of his career. The dispatch is as follows:
Francis Murphy, the "Apostle of Temperance," has retired from active campaigning, according to messages received here from Mr. Murphy's home in Los Angeles. He is said to be almost stone-blind.
Murphy is now seventy-one years old. He has a fine home in Los Angeles. It is understood he will continue his activities the rest of his life
to the dictation of his autobiography
and addresses that will be read at temperance gatherings.

COHAN SHOW PLAYED TO CAPACITY HERE

Largest Audience of the Year Pleased with "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway."

There is no doubt about the persistency and pertinacity of the Geo.
Cohan vogue. The banner audience of the year crowded balcony, box, and orchestra at the Myers theatre last evening to see and hear his "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway," and there was a smile on every lip or a tear in every eye just as the playwright pleased. Well, not exactly.
But Corinne and Scott Welch played on the sympathies at will, the economic principle in the second act never failed to send a big, heavy laugh
ricochetting over the "sea of faces,"
and Edwin Walter as "Blake" had a cool, hard way about him which made one instinctively feel that like "The Unknown" in "Little Johnny Jones,"
the plot was perfectly safe in "his keeping" and that he would see to it presently that the various wicked persons concerned all received "their proper kneadings."

When Cohan reformed musical comedy by relegating the show girl to the background and making the plot
the thing, he did not entirely banish
such incongruities as a band of maids
in picture hats and a line of summer
dudes escorting a poor, forlorn, sev-ant girl to the railroad station, or a platoon of dancing toy soldiers, or quarters of cloggers, ages labelled "exquisite" correspondents. But without these accessories there would be no way, perhaps, of introducing the indispensable song hits, and the song hits, take precedence, even over the plot, in public esteem. The first two of these songs—"Gentlemen of the Press" and "Popular Millionaires"— are rapid and innocuous enough for the old style musical play, but the
"Mary Is a Grand Old Name," "Forty-
five Minutes from Broadway" and "So Long, Mary" lyrics possess the real humor, pathos, and melody which make them cordially welcome even after they have traveled over forty odd states and back again.

The effectiveness of the slinky epigrams
put in the mouths of Burns is reinforced by the seeming spontaneity
and energy which Scott Welch brings to the part. The character is so straightforward, loyal, and true
that one hesitates to smile when he is said, which is only once in a while,
Much of Corinne's work, too, is in a minor key but ever behind the expression of her wistful plaints and yearn-ings laughter is lurking; sometimes
revealing itself in a flashing smile,
more often in the unconscious irony
of her utterances. A very delightful character study is the "Mary Jane Jenkins" of Corinne. The statuesque
Claire Grenville as the mercenary mother with a past, Susan Chisner, the winning old hypocrite, "Mrs. Purdy," Eugene MacGregor as "Bennett,"
the heir at law, Joseph Casack as
"Daniel Cronin," the swindler, Elphie Sweden as "Flora Dora Dean," the foot-light favorite, and the balance of the support all fill in the picture admirably.

The singing is very good; the splendid scenic setting of the second act worthy of especial mention; and the costumes are uniformly excellent.

SEARCH FOR SUSPECT IN THE BEET FIELDS

Detective Said to Be Investigating
Murder Clue Near Clinton
This County.

Last summer a Madison jeweler
named Bardenheier was foully murdered east of Madison and his disfigured remains found several days
after his disappearance. The Madison police and Chicago detectives made an exhaustive search at the time for the murderer but were unable to get any trace of him. The affair, however, thus remained a mystery. Recently a Chicago detective arrived in Madison and made searching inquiries
regarding a Russian named Chris Reicky who is thought to have had some knowledge of the Reicky was said that it was learned Reicky was not living near Clinton and that accompanying the wife of Bardenheier
and her daughter accompanied the detective to Clinton to pursue the search further. Evidently the clue
search in which the officers think important as they made minute inquiries
as to the disposition and character of the suspected man while in Madison. Reicky worked in the beet fields near Madison last summer and is thought to have gone to Clinton with a family he was with much of the time while there. Bardenheier was lured into the country last July to repair a clock, was met by a horse and buggy at the end of the street car lines at Elmside and this was the last seen of him alive.

CHEAP ALCOHOL HAS LED TO EXPERIMENT

Wisconsin Experimental Station Supplies Farmers With Important Information.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
The problem of the production of the production of sufficient raw material to make the manufacture of cheap alcohol possible will be solved
by the agricultural department of the University of Wisconsin, agricultural college if the experiments in growing potatoes just begun prove successful.
The department has received three barrels of new varieties of potatoes
from Germany, which are said to yield
from 300 to 500 bushels, an acre.
They are too coarse for culinary purposes, but as they can be made to produce quantities of starch and alcohol they possess large commercial possibilities. When it is proved that they can be successfully grown in Wisconsin, and that the yield is equal to that accredited to the new varieties, the great difficulty in the way of the production of cheap alcohol
for fuel purposes will be gone.
Hitherto the greatest problem in the manufacture of alcohol has been that
of obtaining sufficient quantities of raw material at prices low enough to make the manufacture worth while.
As Wisconsin is one of the leading potato producing states of the union
there appears to be no reason why
the new varieties should not do well
here and produce as large crops as in Germany, where they are used for alcohol manufacture. Extensive experiments are to be carried on this summer by the horticulture department of the university on the various experimental farms and on the farms
of members of the Wisconsin Agricultural Experiment association, especially in the region about Waupaca,
the center of the potato growing district.

"Come In Out of the Wet."

Silly Billy wants a kiss, sitting in the rain.
Why should she deny him this? Answer's very plain:
Can the fire of love be warm (heed my language—mark!)
With the wetness of the storm putting out the spark?
Some folks never know enough to escape the wet;
Sit around and say, "It's tough!"—doomed to vain regret.
Storm is full and stroke is fine, still nobody buys.
Come inside and cease to pine. Secret: ADVERTISE!

..Forty Years Ago..

Janesville Daily Gazette, Saturday, April 27, 1867.—Accident.—A boy named Heizer, fifteen or sixteen years old, fell from a ladder about two o'clock this afternoon while engaged in painting on west Milwaukee street, and was severely injured, although it is hoped not fatally.

Bad Accident.—An accident occurred at the washing machine factory of Doty Bros. & Richardson, about ten o'clock this morning, which cost Mr. Milton H. Doty the loss of the two middle fingers on the right hand, below the second joint, and the end of the forefinger. At the time of the mishap he was employed in tending a circular saw, but so sudden was the injury that he is unable to say how it came to pass.

An Earthquake Shock Felt in Janesville.—By the concurred testimony of several gentlemen who felt it, we are satisfied that the shock of the earthquake so generally felt about the country last Wednesday was perceptible in Janesville. Today one gentleman relating the sensations he experienced while busy at work between two and three o'clock, we a few minutes later met another who informed us that a building in another locality visibly rocked, and to such an extent that the gentleman who occupied the second story, as an office, took his hat to leave, thinking the foundation of the building might be settling. Many people, we find, noticed the rocking but attributed it to an illusion of their own and said nothing about it.

Burglary.—The hardware store of Mr. E. S. Barrows was entered last night, or rather this morning, by a burglar, the safe blown open with powder and about $110 in money and a "pocketbook" containing some valuable papers carried off. The vessel first broke a light of glass and threw a piece of poisoned meat to the large Newfoundland dog which guarded the store. After the animal was silenced, the window fastening was shoved back and the office entered. Some sharp tool and a blow with a sledge hammer made the necessary opening for the powder to blow open the safe. The work was well done and showed that no novice did it. Mr. B's loss will be in the neighborhood of $150.

Before The Footlights.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday, colder Sunday and western portion tonight.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

"You can't ripen fruit by setting lamps under the trees," is one of Bismarck's old maxims, and he gave expression to the thought after years of observation and experience.

He was a student of men, as well as of measures and discovered what is apparent to every thoughtful mind, that years of preparation and study are necessary to the development of character.

The failures of life are largely due to lack of preparation to meet its responsibilities. The fruit tree, before it reaches maturity, passes from infancy developed from the seed in the nursery to the outdoor life where wind and storm, sunshine and rain contribute to strength and hardihood. Its first effort at fruit bearing is a modest effort. Here and there a bud and blossom, requiring all the strength of young vitality to nourish and mature.

Nature provides it with a purpose, and in the fulfillment of its mission time and the forces of nature, unaided by artificial light or heat, work out its destiny. Congenial soil and climate are necessary to the best development and where these conditions are met results are not disappointing.

But Bismarck had to do with men, and not with trees. In attempting to share the great responsibilities which came to him he was frequently disappointed in the lack of knowledge and judgment displayed by his assistants, and so was forced to the conclusion that "you can't ripen fruit by setting lamps under the trees."

He gave his men the opportunity, but they were not equal to the responsibility, and the old man realized that results could not be accomplished by forcing the issue, however good the artificial "lamp" might be.

There are great truths underlying this homely proposition, for every life was destined to have a purpose, and to yield abundant fruitage.

The schools of the land are turning out every year, from the grades, an army of young men, representing the unfinished product in life's most important era—the age of preparation.

Some of these boys, through force of circumstances, are compelled to take up the active work of life, at an early age, but many of them simply refuse the aid which the home and school provide, and without aim or purpose drift out on the tide to failure and defeat.

They have reached an age when compulsion of school attendance is not advisable, and when reason is so undeveloped that judgment meets with a vain appeal. That is commonly known as the "foolish age," which comes to the life of every boy and girl and for which they are not responsible.

That ship which swings at anchor in the quiet harbor, has just been launched. She was built for a sea-going craft and with cargo well stored will soon be ready for a battle with wind and waves, and her owners have no fear for the outcome. But between the safe harbor and the open sea are shoals and sandbars, presenting a narrow and dangerous channel, which only a skillful pilot can navigate with safety.

The boy in the shelter of the home is preparing for a voyage more hazardous and with the best equipment that can be furnished, he needs a pilot to guide his craft through the uncertain channel out into the great ocean beyond.

This narrow channel is more dangerous because of the derelicts and wreckage which line its passage, sad reminders of crafts which "put to sea" before they were ready for the voyage.

Many of them were weak in construction, with cargoes so light that there was no ballast in the hold, and many more were so self-confident that no pilot was employed, and so they were stranded before the open sea was reached.

Ship wrecks on the great waterways, occur every year, but they are so rare, when compared to the great fleets, that people never think of wreckage when planning an ocean voyage.

This fact is just as true of the craft which sail away on the great sea of life, after discharging their pilots at the entrance to the harbor. When wrecks occur they are matters of record, but the great fleet goes on in safety and completes the voyage.

But there is another fleet which never attracts much attention, because it has no well-defined purpose. The first storm encountered drives it back to the harbor, battered and more or less demoralized.

A few attempts demonstrates unseaworthiness and the bark that was planned for destiny becomes a drifter, floating hither and yon with the tide, powerless to resist the current.

These are ships without a charter

or commission and they are manned by a class of men, found in every community, who neglected in boyhood to equip themselves for the voyage; the class of men whom Bismarck had in mind when he said: "You can't ripen fruit by setting lamps under the trees."

The schools and colleges of the land are filled with noted instructors, and the homes are burdened with solicitude, but the problem of how to deal wisely with the uncertain age which spans the gap between boy and girlhood and man and womanhood, is yet to be solved.

There is no time in life when idleness is helpful, and it is safe to say that when the boy and girl refuse the aid which the public schools afford, that active work and discipline in the harder school of active life is the best alternative.

It may be aimless and purposeless, but it is occupation, and out of which frequently comes development and success.

THE PRESIDENT AT JAMESTOWN.

"This great republic of ours shall never become the government of a plutocracy, and it shall never become the government of a mob."

"We base our regard for each man on the essentials and not the accidents."

"We show ourselves the truest friends of property when we make it evident that we will not tolerate the abuses of property."

"The wrongdoer, the man who swindles and cheats, whether on a big scale or a little one, shall receive at my hands mercy as scant as if he committed crimes of violence or brutality."

"At the moment the greatest problem before us is how to exercise such control over the business use of vast wealth, individual, but especially corporate, as will insure its not being used against the interest of the public, while yet permitting such ample legitimate profits as will encourage individual initiative."

These terse sentences, from the president's speech at Jamestown yesterday, were the keynote of his message, so far as the issues of today are concerned. They ring true and are in accord with the policy which he is attempting to carry out. They will entrench him more firmly in the hearts of the American people, for they are words of wisdom, spoken at a time when clamor and agitation threaten the welfare of the nation.

The president may be impulsive, but he is honest and if any mistakes have been made they are errors of judgment and not of the heart. He is the representative of all the people, influenced neither by the power of wealth nor the power of massed organization.

The people have confidence in him and no power can disturb it. Public sentiment on many questions, is undergoing a revolution and changes are so rapid that it is difficult to keep pace with the procession, but out of it will come a better republic, and history will record that President Roosevelt was the greatest leader of his day and generation.

Bishop McDowell stirred up a hornet's nest in Milwaukee, when he dedicated the laying of the corner stone of the Grand Avenue Methodist church, by declaring that the modern church must be conducted along modern lines, and if the old-fashioned prayer meeting is played out then it must go. The old-time class-meeting has practically disappeared and the meagre attendance at the mid-week prayer meeting indicates that the bishop was familiar with conditions.

Oshkosh is planning for a revival meeting to be conducted by a universalist evangelist. Many of the city churches are joining in the movement.

One of the new bills passed by the assembly permits county boards to invest, not to exceed $5,000, in county fair grounds. This may make it possible for Rock county to redeem itself.

Is Uncle Ike any nearer the senate than he was two weeks ago? Is the question that is bothering the old gentleman, as well as a good many other people.

Wall street is said to have had the President's Jamestown message for a week in advance, and the stock market has been influenced to greater or less extent.

Among the Mineral Point division officers that were here to speak were Superintendent E. D. Wright, Train Dispatcher C. H. Asner, and District Master Mechanic Miller. Engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen, switchmen and in fact all classes of employees were present and all were invited to make suggestions on methods in use, the purpose being to discover wasteful practices if there are any. The meeting was held in a coach on one of the side-tracks near the passenger depot.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Tuesday Evening, April 30

The entertainment to be given at the Y. M. C. A. hall next Tuesday evening promises to be a rare treat for the people of Janesville. Mrs. Lemmon comes to our city with the best testimonials.

The Saturday Evening Review, Indianapolis, says: "The most difficult recitation of the evening was 'The Searching for the Slain' by Mrs. Emma D. Lemmon. It was full of dramatic situations which test the reader's ability to portray the subject. The reader showed that she thoroughly understood the delicate nature of her task and was equal to all its emergencies."

The Cleveland Leader says: In connection with Remenyi Emma D. Lemmon, a beautiful elocutionist, has great talent. Her acting is natural and graceful and her voice good. In 'Searching the Slain' she showed pathos and histrionic ability of high order, and in 'Wilder Green' proved clearly her claim to versatility."

This entertainment is given under the direction of the Ladies' Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church and all the proceeds go into the missionary treasury.

Lightning Rod
Manufacturers

The Way They Do
Business

We are aware that the Lightning Rod business in the past has been done largely by a class of men whose only object was to get the purchaser to sign a contract making him believe he was going to do him a good job for little money, but when he came to settle his bill it had been increased from ten to twenty times what he thought it would be; and in doing business this way the people have become prejudiced against any one that is selling Lightning Rods.

We will rod a man's buildings, give him six months or a year's time, we ask him to sign no note or contract or any paper of any kind. We give him this time to investigate and find out whether we are all right and are what we represent ourselves to be, and if he finds out that we or our goods are not as represented, his Lightning Rod account is canceled. And we give a guarantee with each and every job that we do, if your building is damaged by lightning we will refund the purchase price of the rod.

Let us figure on your buildings and tell you what it will cost, whether you want to rod them or not.

"I think one ought to come up and see you a few times before having their dental work done," said a lady patient the other day.

She meant for them to get used to the office and the dentist in order to get over the condition of dread and fright which many people work themselves into when they think they have to go to the dentist.

This was her second visit to Dr. Richards and she had just had several bad teeth extracted.

She was greatly pleased to find how easy Dr. Richards made it for her. And wondered that she ever could have feared the experience so much. "Didn't hurt you?" said the husband.

"No; not enough to mention," said she.

That's the way it goes every day in Dr. Richards' office. Patients fearful and timid. Timidity finally removed. Dental work finished. Patients amazed at the freedom from patients thankful and express their gratitude.

And then they send their friends. Try him for yourself and family. He is also a reasonable man in his prices.

GEORGE SCHUMAKER IS SOMEWHAT BETTER

Florence Dugan Passed a Bad Day at the County Jail Yesterday—Complained of Seeing Visions.

George Schumaker is reported to be somewhat better this afternoon and the report that there was any decided change for the worse in his condition last evening is denied. He is able to take light nourishment and his temperature is nearly normal. Florence Dugan, the woman who shot him, passed a bad day at the county jail yesterday. She complained of seeing visions, talked incoherently at times, and certain remarks which she made led the officers to fear that she might make an attempt on her own life. Nothing of the kind happened, however. She is afflicted with a racking cough which gives some substance to the report that she is a victim of consumption. Her condition was considerably improved today.

MEN'S SUNDAY MEETINGS

AT Y. M. C. A. BUILDING

Give an Opportunity to Develop One's Powers of Expression—All Are Invited.

The meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday from 3 to 4 p. m. is for men. These meetings are interesting and profitable. All men regardless of creed, nationality or belief, are invited. The singing is good, and the short talks following the leader's remarks give those who wish to emphasize the special thoughts of interest an opportunity to develop as leaders in public speaking. The special feature of the men's hour Sunday afternoon is to give men a chance to develop as leaders among men. The men who desire to encourage this work are cordially invited to contribute by their presence, and influence. A good work is being done and the opportunity for every man to lend his presence at least is urged by those who make the effort to sustain a helpful meeting for men only one hour on Sunday.

Nursery Stock

The Coe, Converse & Edwards Co. will make their annual delivery of nursery stock at the Farmers' Rest on the west side Tuesday and Wednesday. Miss Lillian Scott of Madison is the guest of Miss Pearl Peters.

Mrs. J. W. St. John is entertaining a company of ladies at whist at her home on South Jackson street this afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Behrendt and children of Chicago are guests of Mrs. J. W. Nash.

Mrs. Louise Chadwick, who resides at 405 Court street, returned Thursday evening from Long Beach, California, where she spent the winter.

Miss Edna Rogers has returned from a visit with relatives at Johnson's Creek.

J. L. Schröder and daughter, Miss Jennie Schröder of Brodhead, visited in the city Thursday.

The Misses Nell and Kittie Roherty have been spending the last few days with relatives and friends in Edgerton.

Mrs. F. F. Lewis was surprised this afternoon by the ladies of the Afternoon Sewing society. The self-invited guests brought picnic refreshments.

Wallace Mills entertained the Westminster class of the Presbyterian church at supper at the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. James Mills, East Milwaukee street, last evening. Fifteen young men were present.

Next Friday evening in East Side Odd Fellows' hall will be held the first dancing party of the Pi Delta Gamma fraternity and fully fifty young couples will be in attendance. Several guests from out of the city are expected. Music will be furnished by Roy Carter.

Twelve young lady students from the senior class at Whitewater Normal school are spending the day as guests of their classmates, Miss Nellie Killam at the county farm. Dinner was served at noon and the party is proving most enjoyable.

The closing concert of the Apollo club has been postponed to Monday evening, May 6th. It will be held in Carville M. E. church. Carl Breckner, solo cellist, of Thomas orchestra, has been engaged as soloist and also Frederick Carberry, the celebrated tenor of Chicago, will sing.

Seventy ladies were guests of Mrs. Q. O. Sutherland, Mrs. Charles Sutherland, Mrs. Fred Sutherland, and Miss Sutherland, yesterday at the second party given at the home on South Second street, this week. Six handed euchre was the diversion of the afternoon and Miss Bessie Woodruff was awarded the lucky number prize and Miss Lella Turner, the low score trophy, at the conclusion of the playing. The home was beautified with carnations and daffodils.

"Y" INTERMEDIATES PLAY AT FOOTVILLE

Delegation of a Dozen Made Overland Trip in Wagonette This Afternoon.

Intermediate members of the local Y. M. C. A., accompanied by General Secretary J. C. Kline, went, in a wagonette, to Footville this afternoon and are playing baseball with the Footville high school team. This is the annual Footville game and the Janesville team this year consists of the following: Catch, John Underwood; pitcher, Stewart Richards; short stop, Ellsworth Strang; first base, Roy Crissey; second base, Lee Woodworth; third base, Will Langdon; left field, Floyd Bennis; center field, Fred Jensen; right field, Roger Cunningham. Fred Hans and Kenneth Jeffis were in the party to serve as substitutes and score-keepers.

NEW BOTTLING PLANT AT BUOB'S BREWERY

Five Thousand Dollar Addition is Being Erected by South Side Brewery For Its Increasing Trade.

The Michael Buob brewery is just completing a five thousand dollar bottling works, which, when completed, will have a capacity of thirty thousand bottles a day. The building is twenty by sixty feet, with a large shed attachment, and is built of concrete blocks. It will be one of the finest bottling plants of any small brewery in the state when completed. The company also expects to erect a three-story brew house this next fall. They are planning to open Electric park to the public again this summer, either as a vaudeville show or as a summer garden for picnics.

SIX NEW PATIENTS BROUGHT TO ASYLUM

Taken to the County House From the Mendota Asylum This Morning—All Incurable.

Superintendent Killam this morning received six patients from the Mendota asylum which were sent to the county asylum for the insane by the state board of control. They came down on a morning train and were taken directly to the county farm. The party was composed of the following: Martin Glass, Babe Kourderkerp, James McKee, Anton Klarka, John Donnelly and T. K. Hellam.

New Work in Progress

Van Pool Bros. began the Rothermel residence Jan. 21, '07. It was ready for occupancy April 19, '07—88 days. These contractors have a residence to erect for Henry M. Hanson on Washington street to cost in the neighborhood of $2500; also an addition to the residence of Geo. Bancroft on his farm east of the city—the cost will be about $1200. Monday they will begin remodeling the building at 13 Liberty street owned by John Sauer. It will be made into a five-room house—cost, $400. They have no kick coming. Shop, 13 N. Franklin St.; phone, 564 blue.

TO MAKE JANESVILLE YET MORE BEAUTIFUL

Walter Helms Has the Seeds Which Will Produce the Symphonies in Pink and Yellow and Old-fashioned Comeliness.

We have the seeds of the Cobae, Gourd, Japanese Hop, Moon Flower, Wild Cucumber, Scarlet Runner Bean and many others.

For a symphony in yellow try a hedge at the year of sunflowers, yellow climbing nasturtium on the porch, with yellow zinnias and marigolds in the flower beds.

Or perhaps you prefer pink sweet peas and pink zinnias with a border of sweet alyssum. Castor Beans are fine for a background with tropical effect. Five cents worth of seed will work wonders.

We keep the separate colors of sweet peas, asters and nasturtiums. We have the seed of old-fashioned flowers like sweet williams and heliophobas and new-fashioned kinds like Burbank's poppies or his Shasta daisies.

Let us suggest from our experience the kinds that will please you and fill your yards with bloom and fragrance.

Yours,

WALTER HELMS.

BELOIT WILL HONOR 60TH ANNIVERSARY

Effort Will Be Made to Attract Older Alumni Who Have Absented Themselves of Late Years.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Beloit, Wis., April 27.—Preparations for the celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of Beloit college are being made and a special effort is being exerted to attract the older alumni, who since the establishment of co-education have absented themselves from the annual festivals.

Company 1, First Wisconsin regiment, National Guards, will go into camp at Camp Douglas, July 6.

Mrs. Mary Schomker, a resident of the town of Newkirk and the city of Beloit for many years, died here this morning at the age of eighty-two years.

After a two days illness with brain trouble Mrs. Ray Zahm, aged twenty-four years, died this morning. She is survived by a small child.

PERSONAL MENTION.

E. E. Bullock is in Milwaukee. Senator John M. Whitehead is in Cincinnati to attend a banquet of Yale alumni at which Secretary Taft will be present.

Fred Albright sold his fine team of horses to Rochelle, Ill., parties Thursday. Consideration, $420.

L. J. Snow of Rockford is in the city today.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Matheson moved into their home on Court street yesterday.

Fred Edden is expected to arrive in Janesville tomorrow or Monday after spending the past six months at Los Angeles, Calif. His return trip was made via Seattle, Wash., and other northern coast cities and he is now visiting an aunt in Minnesota.

Miss Gertrude Post of Chicago, who is to be married on June 8 to Mr. Frank Nellis of Chicago, has selected Miss Josephine Treat of Janesville as one of her bridesmaids. The ceremony will be read in St. Paul's church, followed by a reception at the Kenwood hotel.

Isaac Dahle of Madison was in the city yesterday.

A. H. Spoor and W. B. Potter of Milwaukee are transacting business here.

North-Western Passenger Agent James Gibson was in the city last evening.

E. E. Elder and Oscar Olson of Stoughton were in the city last evening.

W. T. Haumerson, a brother of E. J. Haumerson of the High school faculty, is here from Mt. Atkinson.

Edward Reeder of Orono spent yesterday in Janesville and attended the production of "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway" last evening.

Andrew Pond has sufficiently recovered from his recent illness to be out of doors each day and expects soon to return to his duties in the First National bank.

John F. Griffin was a business visitor in Milton today.

Frank Phelps has returned from Los Angeles, Calif., where he spent the winter. On his homeward trip he stopped off at Reno, Nevada, and other points.

Joseph Connors returned home this morning after a visit to Plattville and the surrounding mining district.

E. O. Fleek went to Brodhead this morning.

Emil H. Gloege, who formerly lived in Janesville and is now conducting a photograph gallery at Monroe, is one of the incorporators of the new Y. M. C. A. at Monroe.

Oscar Wee, a student at the Janesville high school, went to Orfordville this morning to spend Sunday with relatives.

Harold Bogardus, formerly of this city but now of Chicago, underwent a successful operation for appendicitis in a hospital there this week.

Dr. Q. O. Sutherland was a professional caller in Monroe yesterday.

William Ruger, Jr., is in Chicago today.

Charles Dunn, who has been traveling in the south, has arrived in Janesville, called thither by the recent death of his father.

Roy Carter was a visitor in Rockford yesterday.

ATTEND CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR MEETING

Several From Here Present at Southern Wisconsin Convention in Beloit.

Having opened last evening the fifteenth annual convention of the Southern Wisconsin Christian Endeavor Union is being held in Beloit. The sessions, which are proving most interesting, will last through tomorrow evening. A number of Janesville Endeavorers are among those in attendance. Dr. F. G. Wolcott, president of the Congregational C. E. society, and Miss Olive Miller, delegate from the Baptist Young People's Union, were present last evening. Among those there this afternoon are the Misses Mary Mount and Joan Shearer, both from the Presbyterian C. E. society. It is very likely that others will go from here tomorrow though Miss McDowell's lecture here will minimize the Congregational church delegation.

OBITUARY.

Miss Hannah Sullivan.

Word was received this morning by Mr. John McDermott, announcing the death of his wife's sister, Miss Hannah Sullivan of Richland county. Miss Sullivan passed away just one week after the demise of her mother. She was well known in Janesville and Mrs. McDermott's many friends extend their sympathy in her latest bereavement. Mrs. McDermott was with her sister at the time of her death, having been called to her mother's bedside at the time of her fatal illness a week ago. Miss Sullivan leaves to mourn her loss five sisters; Mrs. John McDermott of Janesville, and Messdames Thomas, Ferguson, Charles Wunnleke, Otto Soagle and Miss Frances Sullivan of Richland county.

Hans Trotten.

The funeral of Hans Trotten will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 at the Norwegian Lutheran church.

Miss Jennie McDadyen.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Miss Jennie McDadyen were held at the home of her parents on Terrace street this afternoon at four o'clock. Rev. J. W. Laughlin officiating. The remains will be taken to Oconomowoc on the 7:30 train over the St. Paul road tomorrow morning and burial will be made there.

MISS MARY McDOWELL.

Miss Mary McDowell, who speaks at the Congregational church tomorrow evening, has been familiarly called "the angel of the stockyards." For eleven years Miss McDowell has worked among the men and women of that famous district in practical ways. She is an entertaining speaker, not a theorist, but a woman who has done things.

New Block Rising: Work on the new three story block adjoining the Bassett and Echlin plant is progressing rapidly. The river wall and the one on Court street are already several feet above the level of the sidewalk.

The best of securities can not always be turned into cash. There have been times when it was difficult to sell United States bonds. Therefore it is necessary for a well ordered bank to have at all times an adequate cash reserve.

The National Banking Act places the minimum cash reserve which a country bank like this must hold at 15 % of its deposit liabilities. 6 % must be in cash and 9 % deposited in certain designated national banks in the cities called reserve agents. A United States depository is allowed to deduct its United States deposits in figuring its reserve.

This bank has on hand in cash over 10 % of its deposits and its own deposits in banks bring its total cash resources to 26 % of the deposit obligations. We believe this percentage to be adequate and safe.

BITS OF NEWS.

Giovanni Morosini, the New York banker, was dangerously injured in his home in Riverside-on-the-Hudson.

Patrick Gallagher and John Novack, miners in No. 5 drift of the Delaware & Hudson company at Olyphant, Pa., were crushed to death by falling roofs.

Fire in a den of lions at the Lincoln park animal house in Chicago excited the entire menagerie and threatened a delivery of reptiles, tigers and leopards.

Having reached the age of 64 years, Brig. Gen. John W. Bubb, recently in command of the department of the Dakotas at St. Paul, Minn., was placed on the retired list of the army.

Fully 15,000 people attended a barbeque given by the American Society of Equity at Lexington, Ky., organized to fight the tobacco trust. Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana contributed the crowds.

Charles Ansberry, of Bement, Ill., and J. Thebold, of Hannibal, Mo., were crushed to death at Strasburg, Ill. While they were moving the Wabash railway station the jacks gave way. The men were underneath.

Engineer John Phillips, of Delmar, Del., was killed in a head-on collision between a south-bound local passenger train and a north-bound freight on the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk railroad at Edon, Md. No passengers were injured.

OUTLAWS' LAIR DISCOVERED.

Quarrymen Find Cave Occupied by Bandits in 1864.

Tulsa, I. T., April 27.—Workmen blasting rock for railroad ballast on Turkey mountain, seven miles south of Tulsa, Friday, discovered a large cave in which were parts of several human skeletons and many curiosities. On the wall near the entrance is carved, “J. A. Cox, 1864.”

Cox was the leader of a band of outlaws that operated in Indian Territory in the early days. The cave is believed to have been the lair of his band.

TO TRY LONG BALLOON TRIP.

Aeronauts Will Start From St. Louis For Washington.

Washington, April 27.—The first long distance balloon ascension test which Capt. Charles De F. Chandler, United States signal corps, and Mr. McCoy, of the Aero club, New York city, are to conduct, will be under taken Saturday at St. Louis. The objective point will be Washington and the trip is to be taken in order to demonstrate the efficiency of balloons as signal agencies in warfare.

Loving Cup For Tawney.

Winona, Minn., April 27.—Citizens of Winona, after a banquet given in his honor Friday night, presented to James A. Tawney, chairman of the appropriations committee of the national house of representatives, a solid silver loving cup, lined with gold. The cup bears the inscription, “To Our Jim, from his Winona friends.”

Big Rockefeller to U. of C.

Chicago, April 27.—John D. Rockefeller made another princely gift to the University of Chicago Friday in land valued at $2,000,000. The strip extends from Madison avenue to Cottage Grove avenue, fronting the south side of the Midway Plaisance. It is his richest land donation to the university.

Should Pay to Advertise.

Fond du Lac, Commonwealith.—The legislature will do well to place a limitation on the issuing of state fair passes. It will also be business like to place a reasonable fund at the disposal of the state fair board to be used in legitimate advertising so it won't be necessary to beg for it. Some day the management of the state fair will be confronted with the necessity of paying for the columns upon columns of space, which its press bureau has been securing free of charge. The newspapers are as much entitled to pay for publishing this matter as the

(N. B. These drawings are protected by U. S. Trade Mark)

SAVE YOUR HAIR WITH NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

The time to save your hair, is while you have hair to save. Newbro's Herpicide kills the germ that causes dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair, after which the hair is bound to grow as nature intended (except in cases of chronic baldness). Herpicide stops itching of scalp almost instantly.

I find that Herpicide will do all you claim for it. I am now on my second bottle and it has cleansed my head nicely and I can see new hair coming in. It also stopped my hair from falling out and I am well pleased with it and will do recommend it to all.

(Signed) R. L. LEIGH.
Hopkinsville, Ky.

I wish to say that I have used part of the bottle of Herpicide that you sent me and I think it is a good tonic and have recommended it to quite a number of my friends. I believe it will cure dandruff and it is a splendid and delightful hair dressing.

(Signed) H. J. FORSDICK.
Memphis, Tenn.

I have given your Herpicide a thorough test. I can cheerfully say that it is the best Hair Tonic I have ever used. It will be one of our household remedies from now on and will surely recommend same to all my friends and acquaintances.

(Signed) PETER PEHL.
Sedalia, Mo.

You very kindly sent me a bottle of your Herpicide and I gladly answer your inquiry as to its qualities. I have used it now for some time and know it to be the best thing for the hair I have ever used, and it keeps my hair free from dandruff and as soft as silk. I have induced several of my friends to use it and they are pleased with it.

A MAKER OF HISTORY

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM,
Author of "The Master Mummer," "A Prince of Sinners," "Mysterious Mr. Sabin," "Anna the Adventuress," Etc.

Copyright, 1905, 1906, by LITTLE, BROWN, and COMPANY.

She raised her eyebrows with a protesting gesture, but he looked away and opened an illustrated paper by his side. He turned over the pages idly enough at first, but suddenly paused. He whistled softly to himself and stared at the two photographs which filled the sheet.

"By Jove!" he said softly to himself. "There was a rustling of skirts close to his table. An unmistakably English voice addressed him.

"Is it anything very interesting? Do show me!"

He looked up. Mlle. Flossie, pleased with his appearance, had paused on her way down the room.

"Come and sit down, and I'll show you," he said, rising. "You're English, aren't you?"

Mlle. Flossie waved a temporary adieu to her friends and accepted the invitation. He poured her out a glass of wine.

"Stay and have supper with me," he begged. "I must be off soon, but I'm tired of being alone. This is my last night, thank goodness!"

"All right!" she answered gayly. "I must go back to my friends directly afterward."

"Order what you like," he begged. "I can't make these chaps understand me."

She laughed and called the waiter. "And now show me what you were looking at in that paper," she insisted. He pointed to the two photographs.

"I saw those two together only a week ago," he said. "Want to hear about it?"

She looked startled for a moment and a little incredulous.

"Yes, go on!" she said.

He told her the story. She listened with an interest which surprised him. Once or twice when he looked up, he found that the lady from Vienna was also doing her best to listen. When he had finished his supper had arrived.

"I think," she said as she helped herself to hors d'oeuvre, "that you were very fortunate to get away."

He laughed carelessly.

"The joke of it is," he said, "I've been followed all the way here. One fellow who pretended he got in at

"very often," she answered. "I dance at the Comique, and then we generally go to Maxim's to supper and up here afterward. I'll introduce you to my friends afterward if you like, and we'll all sit together. If you're very good I'll dance to you!"

"Delighted," he answered. "If they speak English, I'm sick of trying to make people understand my rotten French."

She nodded.

"They speak English all right. I wish that horrid Viennese girl would not try to listen to every word we say."

He smiled.

"She wanted me to sit at her table," he remarked.

Mlle. Flossie looked at him warningly and dropped her voice.

"Better be careful!" she whispered. "They say she's a spy!"

"On my track very likely," he declared, with a grin.

She threw herself back in her seat and laughed.

"Conceited! Why should anyone want to be on your track? Come and see me dance at the Comique tomorrow night."

"Can't," he declared. "My sister's coming over from England."

"Stupid!"

"Oh, I'll come one night," he declared. "Order some coffee, won't you? And what liquors?"

"I'll go and fetch my friends," she declared, rising. "We'll all have coffee together."

"Who are they?" he asked.

She pointed to a little group down the room, two men and a woman. The men were French, one middle aged and one young, dark, immaculate and with the slightly bored air affected by the young Frenchmen of fashion. The woman was stillingly handsome and magnificently dressed. They were quite the most distinguished-looking people in the room.

"If you think they'll come," he remarked doubtfully. "Aren't we rather comfortable as we are?"

She made her way between the tables.

"Oh, they'll come," she declared. "They're pals."

She floated down the room with a cigarette in her mouth, very graceful in her airy, muslin skirts and large hat. Guy followed her admiringly with his eyes. The Viennese lady suddenly tore off a corner of her menu and scribbled something quickly. She passed it over to Guy.

"Read!" she said imperatively.

He nodded and opened it.

"Tremble, garde!" he said slowly; then he looked at her and shook his head.

She was making signs to him to destroy her message, and he at once did so.

"Don't understand," he said. "Sorry."

Mlle. Flossie was laughing and talking with her friends. Presently they rose and came across the room with her. Guy stood up and bowed. The introductions were informal, but he felt his insular prejudices a little shattered by the delightful ease with which these two Frenchmen accepted the situation. Their breeding was as obvious as their bonhomie. The table was speedily rearranged to find places for them all.

"Your friends will take coffee with me, mademoiselle," Guy said. "Do be hospitable, please. My attempts at French will only amuse everybody."

The elder of the two Frenchmen, whom the waiter addressed as M. le Baron and every one else as Louis, held up his hand.

"With pleasure," he declared, "later on. Just now it is too early. We will celebrate the centennial cordial. Garçon, a magnum of Pommery, un peu fripe!"

I know you will forgive the liberty," he said, smiling at Guy. "This bottle is vowed. Flossie has smiled for the first time for three evenings."

She threw a paper fan at him and sat down again by Guy.

"Do tell him the story you told me," she whispered in his ear. "Louis, listen!"

Guy retold his story. M. le Baron listened intently. So did the lady who had accompanied him. Guy felt that he told it very well, but for the second time he omitted all mention of that missing sheet of paper which had come into his possession. M. le Baron was obviously much interested.

"You are quite sure of the two men?" he asked quietly.

"Quite!" Guy answered confidently. "One was—"

Madame Flossie friend—dropped a wineglass. M. le Baron raised his hand.

"No names," he said. "It is better not. We understand. A most interesting adventure, M. Poynton, and to your health!"

The wine was good, and the fun of the place itself went almost to the head. Always there were newcomers; who passed down the room amid a chorus of greetings, always the gayest of music. Then, amid cheers, Flossie and another friend whom she called from a distant table danced a cakewalk—danced very gracefully and with a marvelous display of rainbow skirts. She came back breathless and threw herself down by Guy's side.

"Give me some more wine," she panted. "How close the place is!"

The younger Frenchman, who had scarcely spoken, leaned over. "My automobile is outside. I will drive you all round the city. M. Poynton shall "Come and sit down, and I'll show you," he said.

Strassburg was trying to talk to me all the time, but I saw him sneak in at Vienna and I wasn't having any. I say, do you come here every evening?"

For Coughs and Colds

Nearly all other Cough Cures are constipating, especially those containing opiates. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup moves the bowels. Contains no opiates.

see Paris undressed. Afterward we will go to Louis' rooms and make his man cook us a dejeuner Anglaise."

Flossie stood up and laughed.

"Who'll lend me a coat?" she cried. "I've nothing but a lace mantle."

"Plenty of Frenchmen in the car," the young Frenchman cried. "Are we all agreed? Good! Garçon, l'addition!"

"And mine," Guy ordered.

The women departed for their wraps. Guy and the two Frenchmen filled their pockets with cigarettes. When the bills came, Guy found that his own was a trifle, and M. Louis waved aside all protest.

"We are hosts tonight, my young friend," he declared, with charming insistence. "Another time you shall have your turn. You must come around to the club tomorrow, and we will arrange for some sport. Adieu!"

They crowded out together amid a chorus of farewells. Guy took Flossie's arm going down the stairs.

"I say, I'm awfully obliged to you for introducing me to your friends," he declared. "I'm having a ripping time."

She laughed.

"Oh, they're all right," she declared. "Mind my skirts."

"I say, what does 'prenez garde' mean?" he asked.

"Take care, why?"

He laughed again.

"Nothing."

JUDGES OF CONTEST HAZED.

Tied to Trees by Displeased Freshmen of Shurtleff College.

Upper Alton, Ill., April 27.—Having decided in favor of the sophomores in an oratorical contest at Shurtleff college Thursday night, which decision was displeasing to the freshmen, Professor M. Mugar, of St. Louis, and E. M. Doy, general advertising agent for the Missouri Pacific system, two of the three judges, were seized by the freshmen, tied to trees on the campus and left helpless until morning. Attorney Harold Johnston, of St. Louis, the third judge, who rendered decision in favor of the freshmen, was not molested.

FARMERS SHORT OF HELP.

Serious Condition is Reported from the Northwest.

St. Paul, Minn., April 27.—Reports coming to the Great Northern railway headquarters here indicate that the farmers of the northwest are suffering from lack of help during seeding time. A telegram from Devil's Lake, N. D., to L. W. Hill, president of the Great Northern, says: "Seeding just commenced and 25 per cent of the farmers' teams in barns for want of teamsters. Condition serious. Can you help?" Another telegram to B. Campbell, fourth vice president, says: "Two hundred men needed, wages $25 to $40 per month."

Commits Suicide on a Steamer.

New York, April 27.—David Wilcox, former president of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad company, committed suicide at sea last Wednesday while a passenger on the North German Lloyd steamer Barbarossa. The Barbarossa is at quarantine, where the steamer arrived Friday evening from Genoa and Naples.

Foolishness.

WHY SO WEAK?

Kidney Troubles May be Sapping Your Life Away. Janesville People Have Learned This Fact.

When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backache, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, look to the kidneys for the cause of it all. Keep the kidneys well and they will keep you well. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and keep them well. Here is Janesville testimony to prove it.

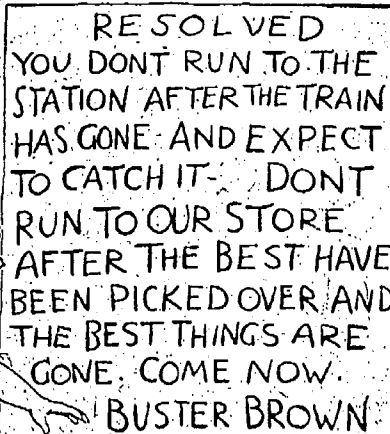

Mrs. Joseph Gower of 6 Park Ave., Janesville, Wis., says:

"Dull aching and pain in the loins often extended around to my sides and there seemed to be no relief from the misery it brought me. Sometimes I was actually unfit for work. I used liniments and hot applications and tried various remedies but all in vain. I was growing worse. Finally I saw Doan's Kidney Pills recommended in our papers and got a box at the People's Drug Co. They gave me some relief almost instantly and in a few days after taking the first dose the backache and misery left me. I gained and since then have had no return of the trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.
